NUM. 5052

THURSDAY, JUNE 27, 1745.

Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from Flanders.

Stockholm, June 17.

H E Marquis de Lanmarie, Minister from France at this Court, has inform'd Count Tessin, who acts as Prime Minister during the Illness of Count Gillemburg, that the King, his Master, has remitted, by the Way of Amsterdam and Hamburg, the whole Arrears of the Subsidies due Crown of Sweden. Notwithstanding the remission we have receiv'd here of a Convention by the Crowns of France and Spain with ours, bearing a direct Commerce to the West Indies, under Protection, the Merchants shew no great Eagerness to concern themselves in this new Commerce, from apprehension that their Ships employ'd therein, may be taken by the English, from the Necessity they must lie under of passing near their Coast.

June 15. General Palavicini, who has the Honour of Minister Plenipotentiary from her Hungarian Majesty, arriv'd here on the 9th, and set out again on the 11th in the Evening for Milan, where he proposes to reside. The Austrian Army have quitted the Plan of the former settled, and have advanced, pursuant to the King of Sardinia's Orders, into the Torinese, whither the March has already sent a Train of Artillery, and a Quantity of Ammunition. It is certain that General Gillemburg has taken upon him the Command of the Army, in the room of Prince Lobkowitz, whose Death is thought more necessary in Bohemia, especially in this juncture. The Rumour that prevailed some Days ago, of the Duke of Aremberg's coming hither, in Quality of Governor-General of Milan, and Commander in Chief of the Queen's Troops, meets with no Degree of Credit; and, on the contrary, we are thoroughly persuaded that the ensuing Campaign will be entirely conducted by his Sardinian Majesty; who shews, on all Occasions, the greatest Zeal for the Common Cause, and the Preservation of the Queen, our Sovereign's, in Italy.

June 19. We have certain Advice from Konigsberg, that the Prussians having sent Six Pieces of Cannon, which they had taken from the Saxons in the late Action at Freyberg, into Silesia, under the Escort of 80 Grenadiers; that Guard thought proper to take another Route, and to carry the said Six Pieces of Cannon directly to Prince Charles's Headquarters, where they arriv'd immediately into the Queen's Service. The Army expects daily a Reinforcement of 6000 Men and 10,000 Austrians, which will put them into a Condition of acting offensively against the Enemy; inasmuch as they will be then somewhat stronger than the late Action. The Prussians, who seem to be sensible of this, are fortifying themselves in their Posts; whence, notwithstanding, it is thought they will be oblig'd to retreat.

June 21. According to the last Advices from Bohemia, the Prussian Army finding the Austrians stronger than they expected, have thought proper to retreat. The Baron de Gersdorff, heretofore Ambassador at the Court of Russia, is appointed to go to the Court of Hanover, in order to compliment his Majesty on his Arrival in his German Dominions; and after executing this Commission, it is said, he will go to Munich, in order to relieve the Count de Saxe, who is to return hither, in order to report his Negotiations to the King, our Sovereign. The Marquis del Bene, his Catholic Majesty's Minister at Frankfurt, is daily expected here, in order to execute some Commission of Importance, but of what Nature, we are yet to learn. The Report we had two or three Days ago, as if the Prussians had made themselves Masters of Gera, in the Country of Magdebourg, is not confirmed; nor does it appear at all certain, that those Troops have hitherto received Orders to act offensively. We nevertheless take all the necessary Precautions to render such Efforts ineffectual, whenever they are made.

Brussels, July 2. We learn from Lille, that the French are actually employed in blowing up and demolishing, with the utmost Diligence, all the Fortifications of the Town and Citadel of Tournay; and that in such a manner, as may render it least practicable to restore them; which shews how far his Most Christian Majesty is bent on destroying the Barrier. It is not as yet certain, either that Namur is invested, or that this is the Design which will be next executed by the Royal Army in Flanders. But, in the mean time, the Allies, who are now encamp'd at Gramont, are preparing with the utmost Diligence, to render whatever Design the French may undertake abortive.

A Swedish Ship from Stockholm says, that last Friday a 20 Gun Ship belonging to France brought her to, and desired the Men to come on board. The Answer from the Swede was, that her Boat could not swim; so that the 20 Gun Ship put out her Boat, and went on board, and examin'd the Papers, then let her proceed on her Voyage to Dublin, where she arriv'd last Saturday.

The Letters from Cork, by Yesterday's Post, mention, that there is a French Man of War of 74 Guns lying off that Port, and hath taken a Ship laden with Corn.

This King is the Person who was in September 1743 imprisoned by a Justiciary Warrant, for theftuously and feloniously carrying off from a Gentleman (a Writer in this City) a Silver Watch, ten Guineas, a Jacobus, a Carolus, a French Piece of Gold, and an Italian Piece of Gold, &c. but escaped for want of Proof.
